NAVSO Summits = Catalysts for Change

NAVSO's Human-Centered Design Summits help our partners build actionable road maps to solve real problems. Unlike the usual conference or summit where people gather to hear from plenary speakers talking about the same issues time and time again (with no real progress towards changing today's realities), our summits focus on deep learning and documented, weighted discovery so stakeholders leave with prioritized work objectives that can make significant changes to the way veterans experience transition and reintegration.

By working with your organization, our team helps you identify themes, objectives and goals around your issue area then builds and executes a facilitation plan that ultimately accelerates your progress in meeting your established goals.

Our experience in developing and executing these summits equate success to three key attributes: 1. Clearly defined themes/objectives/ goals, 2. Professional facilitation, and 3. Right stakeholders/audience.
